Hallowtide

Jen Arnold, M.A. in Theology and Catechetics — www.CatholicHeartAblaze.com

November is approaching, and Catholics around the world are preparing to commemorate two significant days in the liturgical calendar: All Saints' Day on November 1st and All Souls' Day on November 2nd. These observances are rooted in ancient Christian tradition and offer an opportunity for the faithful to honor the saints and remember departed loved ones. Let's explore the origins and theological significance of both holy days.

All Saints' Day, also known as the Solemnity of All Saints or Hallowmas, has its roots in the early Christian Church. The exact origins are somewhat obscure, but the practice of commemorating martyrs and saints dates back to the 4th century. In the early years of Christianity, when persecution was rampant, so many martyrs died for their faith that the Church set aside special days to honor them. Initially, these commemorations were localized, with different regions celebrating on various dates. The formal establishment of All Saints' Day as we know it today can be traced back to AD 609 when Pope Boniface IV dedicated the Pantheon in Rome to the Blessed Virgin Mary and all martyrs. This event is the precursor to the modern All Saints' Day celebration. Later, Pope Gregory III (AD 731-741) dedicated a chapel in St. Peter's Basilica to all saints, fixing the anniversary of this dedication as November 1st. Then, in AD 837, Pope Gregory IV extended the celebration of All Saints' Day to the universal Church, officially establishing November 1st as the date for this observance, which we have continued to observe until present times.

All Saints' Day is a Holy Day of Obligation in the Catholic Church. We are obligated to go to Mass as an act of reverence to honor and remember all saints, both known and unknown. A saint is any soul who has attained heaven, including both canonized saints and those whose sainthood is known only to God. This provides an opportunity to venerate saints who do not have their own feast days or perhaps come from our own circle of personal loved ones. The day serves as a reminder of the Catholic doctrine of the "communion of saints," which emphasizes the spiritual bond that exists between those in heaven (the Church Triumphant), those in purgatory (the Church Suffering), and those still living on earth (the Church Militant). Remember, Christ has one body, not three, and that body remains united even after some of its members have left this earth. All Saints' Day allows us to reflect on the examples set by the saints who have gone before us so we might be inspired to emulate their virtues and holiness in our own lives.

While All Saints' Day focuses on those who have already reached heaven, All Souls' Day, observed on November 2nd, is dedicated to praying for all the faithful departed, particularly for the souls whose destination remains unknown to us. The origins of All Souls' Day can be traced to ancient Christian traditions of praying for the dead, founded in scripture (2 Maccabees 12:39-45). However, the date of November 2nd was established in the 10th-11th centuries by St. Odilo of Cluny (c. 962-1049), the abbot of Cluny in France. He decreed that all Cluniac monasteries should observe November 2nd as a day of prayer for all the souls of the faithful departed. This practice gradually spread beyond the Cluniac order and was eventually adopted by the universal Church. By the 14th century, All Souls' Day was widely celebrated throughout the Catholic Church.

All Souls' Day is significant for Catholics as it provides an opportunity to remember and pray for deceased family members, friends, and all the faithful departed who may not have anyone else to pray for them. The day is rooted in the belief in purgatory, a state of purification where souls destined for heaven are cleansed of the stain of their sins. On this day, and throughout the month of November, Catholics are encouraged to pray for the souls in purgatory, attend Mass, visit the graves of loved ones, and perform works of charity in memory of the deceased.

Together with All Hallow's Eve (Halloween) on October 31st, All Saints' Day and All Souls' Day form what is sometimes called the Triduum of Death, Allhallowtide, or more simply Hallowtide. The Catholic Church often references the Latin phrase memento mori, meaning "remember you must die." Perhaps you have noticed Catholic art or depictions of saints with skulls nearby — most famously St. Jerome as he translates the bible. At first glance, this triduum and concept of memento mori may seem morbid and depressing, but when we look more deeply at the theological significance, we see there is much more to it. First, knowing that death can come at any moment reminds us we must always be in a state of grace, free from mortal sin, and focused on growing in holiness and virtue. When that moment comes, we want to be ready. Death is inevitable for all of us, and there are only two final destinations for our souls: heaven or hell.

Further, All Saints' Day inspires in us the hope of heaven and encourages us to strive for our heavenly home with help from our saintly friends. Finally, All Souls' Day reminds us of God's infinite and superabundant mercy. So long as we are not in a state of mortal sin when we die, we have the opportunity for our souls to be purified in the afterlife so that we are worthy to enter heaven, where we will see God face to face for eternity. Thus, Hallowtide is not so much a focus on death as it is a reinforcement of our focus on our goal for eternal life and the graces offered to us to attain that goal.

Of course, this week, attend Mass on All Saints' Day. Our parish will offer a vigil Mass at 6pm on Thursday, October 31st and then on Friday, November 1st, Mass will be celebrated at 6:30am, 8:15am and 7pm. Also, consider attending Mass on Saturday, November 2nd at either 8:15am or at our Mass of Remembrance at 10:30am, to pray for your deceased loved ones. Throughout the month of November, consider offering your sufferings for different souls each day to aid them in their purification process. Keep in mind, the Catholic Church is the only faith that teaches the doctrine of purgatory, so there are many suffering souls who have no one else but you to pray for them.

OFFICE OF WORSHIP Praenotanda

 DECEMBER 9TH IS A HOLY DAY OF OBLIGATION!!! *****

In 2024, December 8 is the Second Sunday of Advent, so the solemnity of the Immaculate Conception is transferred to Monday, December 9. Previously, in the US, when the DATE was transferred the obligation was abrogated. That will no longer be true.

★FROM THE USCCB: Earlier this year, Bishop Thomas J. Paprocki, Chairman of the USCCB's Committee on Canonical Affairs and Church Governance, wrote to the Holy See seeking clarification about the obligation to attend Mass when a holy day of obligation in Advent, Lent, or Easter falls on Sunday and the Solemnity is transferred to Monday. In a memo to the U.S. bishops dated Thursday, October 10, Bishop Paprocki communicated the Dicastery for Legislative Text's response: "the feast must be observed as a day of obligation on the day to which it is transferred."

In light of this new directive, the Solemnity of the Immaculate Conception on Monday, December 9, 2024 is to be observed as a Holy Day of Obligation.

Addendum from Fr. Rey: Regarding this change in the obligation to attend Mass for the solemnity of the Immaculate Conception, in addition to our regular 8:15am daily Mass, we will include a vigil Mass at 7:00pm on Sunday, December 8 as well as a 6:00pm Mass on Monday, December 9. Please note, if you attend the vigil Mass, you will still need to attend an additional Mass that weekend to fulfill your Sunday obligation.

NIGHT OF NATIVITIES

COMMUNION HYMN

I Will Have Faith in You

By S Hart and S Mizell

When the night is closing in, I will have faith in you.
When I've lost all hope within, I will have faith in you.

Refrain:

Faith is believing in all that love can do
And I am in your keeping, so I will have faith in you.

If my feet should lose their way, I will have faith in you,
To bring me to a resting place, I will have faith in you.

Refrain

Bridge:

I will be hopeful. I will not lose heart.
I will be trusting in everything you are.

RECESSIONAL HYMN

Amazing Grace (My Chains Are Gone)
by Chris Tomlin

Amazing grace how sweet the sound
That saved a wretch like me
I once was lost, but now I'm found
Was blind, but now I see
'Twas grace that taught my heart to fear
And grace my fears relieved
How precious did that grace appear
The hour I first believed

Refrain

My chains are gone, I've been set free
My God, my Savior has ransomed me
And like a flood His mercy reigns
Unending love, amazing grace

The Lord has promised good to me
His word my hope secures
He will my shield and portion be
As long as life endures (Refrain)

The earth shall soon dissolve like snow
The sun forbear to shine
But God, who called me here below
Will be forever mine, will be forever mine
You are forever mine
